STIKKI PEACHES

BIO

Stikki Peaches' tagline "What if Art Ruled the World?" has been taking over Montreal, but also the urban landscape of Paris, London, Berlin and Stockholm, since 2009.

The anonymous street artist is strongly influenced by pop culture references, lowbrow and street culture. Created by using a variety of media, including collage, acrylic paint and silkscreen, each piece encourages people passing by to stop, analyze, and question and is sure to leave them with a smile.

In 2013 alone, Stikki Peaches left his mark in Barcelona, New York and Art Basel Miami. In 2014, Stikki Peaches had his first international solo exhibition in New York.
