Artist note

Most of my art works are focused on portraits. I am trying to deal with emotions which might occur between person to person and to contain such things. Such emotions might be love, sad or joys. We are living feeling numerous emotions with continuous conflicts and worries on cross-road of selection. The fact that I draw pictures, isn't it a method to express my various emotions most frankly?

Characters in my art pieces might be myself or other person. Others' views may make us happy or sad. I am sometimes frustrated or encouraged from others eyes' view. I remain aloof from such views or enjoy such coolness and even hide sadness in a smiling face. Otherwise I also hide others in sad face. Like this, living together is really ironical.
