[Artist Statement]

I see myself inside the daily life of people. Things passing without meaning, whispering sound of people, the blowing of wind... Moments like this are immensely beautiful moments where I can feel and reflect myself. The me, thought, feeling and gaze of the moment... This moment is not only the bridge connecting the fugacious future and the past remaining only in memory, but is also a doorway that connects me to the world. The point where myself and the world meet, the point where myself and yourself meet, the daily life that contains all of these points is the ultimate point where our ideal life must be realized.
