Artwork description

The world through a transparent drop

Grazing wind wandering around faded woods.

Faded petal in the flow of countless hours.

Images of nature and life, projected onto a transparent water, create an afterimage like an illusion. Since clear and transparent flow naturally fused together, or sometimes piled up in several wrinkled layers on the surface of water and floated in various form, these lead the world of mediation.

I who reflected myself as bowl, would like to express the flowing water harmonized with nature image.

whatever the bowl is clumsy, sometimes, even that small, I hope to be assimilated and melted together into the nature order.
