Lives and works in Beijing

Na Xiaoxian was born in the 1990s. She is young, energetic and full of ideas, just like her works. Her recent series Renaissance of Children's Dreams takes the Renaissance classics as a source of creation and evolves into a fun and childlike series. The retro elements in the works look natural and very cute. In addition to paying tribute to the classics, they are also fairy tales for kids, recording beauty in life in children's perspective. People always want to be young forever or go back to the past. These works allow viewers to find their own utopia.
