

Artist Hanna Romin

Born on January 11, 1962 in Gniezno/ Poland

Hanna Romin has been painting ...since forever. After gaining her university degree in Poland

(she is an elementary school teacher)

Hanna Romin has spent many years studying art with various notable masters, first in Poland and then in Germany.

For many years she has been a student of Herdin Radtke, one of the best oil painters in Europe. Radtke, who had been a Salvador Dali's student for five years in Spain, was the teacher who introduced Hanna Romin to Dali's school of painting, which became one of the most important influences on her art. No wonder that surrealism is particularly close to her heart.

Portraits are among her favorite subjects.
