

Chen Yu is a painter and also a poet. Her paintings derive from poetic feeling and expressions. Her work is passionate and simple. It reaches directly and deeply into the viewers heart. Like poetry is the essence of literature, her abstract paintings use simple expressions to present a complicated and beautiful object and the scenario. Some of her works reminisce the essence of nature seen in the paintings by the late American painter, Georgia O'Keeffe. However, Chen Yu uses Chinese spiritual expression and Western color interpretation to present the semi-abstract flower inspired paintings. Moist flower petals are the prominent visual cues in her work which gives out the feeling of energetic yet peaceful.

Born in 1965, Chen Yu is one of a very few Chinese female artists whose work are recognized internationally. Her paintings had been selected for exhibitions in Asia and Europe. Chen Yu has undertaken several major commissioned art projects for several five-star hotels in China.
