Jack Jung (1955 - American Fine Artist)

I am inspired by the beauty and harmony of the natural elements of water and light. I try to apply these concepts in my paintings in hoping it may one day be a beacon and symbol of hope and love and bring spiritual freedom to those who need it the most.

Mixing the water element with my memories helps to create the emotions shown in my artwork. I try to connect past and future emotions of love and hope.

Share our vision of Hope & Love through the work of our paintbrush. Provide means for people to open their hearts and view the world in new light.

Encourage new generation of artists to exceed our expectation and make this world a happier place. I Hope my paintings impresses the audience touching their hearts so they can feel healed in their soul with spiritual freedom.
